Haiyesh,

I looked into this and learned that the Air Force is involved with this legal matter - therefore please reach out to the Air Force managing attorney listed below with your questions. Thanks.

Ms. Chin-Zin Plotner – ph# 240-612-4680.

I would appreciate it, if you would provide answer(s) to the following. Thank you.

Are there presently products available to effectively extinguish liquid hydrocarbon fires that do not require PFOA and PFOS? If so, how long have such products been available? Is JBMDL still using products containing PFOA & LFOS? If products containing PFOA and/or PFOS are still used for military or other purposes, what methods have been undertaken to reduce the risk of groundwater contamination?
